In part he said:

"The statement of the wheat board that only fifty million bushels will find its way to the great west before the close of the season, which means that the balance of the crop, whether it goes to the United States or to the United States, will be established with respect to the wheat situation.

Czerny pleaded that he had only performed his duty. He denied many charges of his executing and treated several instances in which he claimed Bela Kun gave direct and explicit orders for the murders.

"As the Hungarian bar association refused to defend the accused, the court ordered lawyers present in the court room to defend them."

As Usual.

Lord Milner is the British representative in Egypt. With that in mind, the news that Egypt is in a state of insipient revolt is somewhat surprising. There is usually trouble where the "prancing pasha" is, but here it is a positive talent for provoking disaster he certainly has none for quieting it.

Saying Nothing, But—

It is noted in despatches that the International Maritime Bureau has passed into the control of British directors, which in effect means that in the future, as in the past, British interests are to dominate the carrying trade of the world. Those who are forecasting the commercial collapse of Britain because of sterling is at discount in New York may gather a useful hint from this. The B.I.B. has a disconcerting way of dislocating the calculations of people who think they don't know anything about the world. The present things are pretty much against him, but it is notable that most of the talking about it is being done by the "prancing pasha" himself. He perhaps is spending his time thinking up ways to make other people's trouble his own. He is a potent agent under whose spell an opponent would have been sent to suggest so.

The "Movie."

A correspondent, one of the best known of Canadian writers, in a recent issue drew attention to the fact that the "movie" industry was widely at the moving picture houses, making a plea for more serious films, which are regarded as something more educational or inspirational. The point is surely well raised. There are notable exceptions, of course, but it is not going too far to say that a large percentage of the presented tent to make the movie house a chamber of horrors, to which people are drawn rather by the reputation of the film, than by the new shivers then entertained and profited by harmless or helpful exhibitors.

The tendency is to heap blame upon the censors. But a board of censors is not an institution unrelated to the public. It is a body to kill films with regard only to the ideals of its members. Under the democratic system of government it is the privilege of the public to have what they want, and a board of censors can do little more than prevent the public from seeing what it does not approve.

The public taste is ultimately responsible for the quality of the plays produced, on stage and screen alike. The proprietors of theatres aim to please their patrons. They take what the public is guinea right as to what their patrons want. That the "blood and thunder" picture is the common show that in the opinion of those who should best know, and who are financially concerned in knowing, it is a type that it pays to exhibit.

That there are many people who do not relish this type of picture, and who still less like the idea of their children being familiar with such scenes, is unquestionably true. What are we to do about it? Two courses seem open. One is to "cut" the "blood and thunder" picture, and the other is to let it go. The latter is the more sensible, and the one that is being sacrificed to "entertainment" is the one that is being sacrificed to "entertainment."

The point to be kept in mind is that the moving picture house is a permanent institution, and will, regardless of what a fraction of the community may do—so on showing pictures of and spreading the good or bad moral and mental influence that emanates from them. If those who do not relish a certain type of film stay away from the picture houses altogether, they will support upon whom who do, thereby make what is now complained of as common, the universal rule. The picture house will draw the line, and discriminate in the future between "good" and "bad" films that the box office will notice the result, it will be to the interest of picture makers and theatre managers to make and display pictures of an inoffensive and more desirable kind.

Where Are We At?

With a view, no doubt, to providing information for use in the civic election campaign, the city comptroller has issued a very timely statement as to the city's finances.

It appears from this that our debt is not more than $1,200,000, twenty millions and a half, with current loans and bank overdraft amounting to a floating debt of $1,200,000. The total debt of the city is $1,200,000, twenty millions and a half, with current loans and bank overdraft amounting to a floating debt of $1,200,000.

The arrears now total nearly six million, nearly eight hundred thousand having been collected during the year. To what extent these arrears have taken account of the prepayment plan, and what proportion of the six millions is thus represented, is not known. It would perhaps be optimistic to hope that the total promised will do more than offset the probable arrears for the present year, leaving the city to take over or sell property of which there are six millions of arrears.

Of the one million eight hundred thousand collected on this year's taxes, a million and a quarter is required to pay interest and to defray instalments for the past nine months, leaving something more than a half million to pay money from the city's levy with which to pay running expenses and meet interest and debenture payments during the next five months. As the expenditure on general administration amounted to $1,200,000, leaving only $1,200,000 to pay for the next five months, it is clear that we are not "paying as we go."

These figures assuredly show that the question of civic finances is a basic issue of the hour, and that the city is in a position to throw out during the campaign. It may reasonably be supposed that members of the council, who are in a position to throw out during the campaign, will take the opportunity to give an account of their stewardship to the taxpayers, and that the question of civic finances is a basic issue of the hour, and that the city is in a position to throw out during the campaign.

The following year the taxpayers put on the brakes by rejecting many of the proposals of the council, and the conditions of stringency. For the past five years the most that has been hoped for is to "finance" rather than to pay; to collect what could be collected and borrow the balance necessary to carry on the city's operations. This was not imperative.

With what result? Are we improving? Are we getting ahead? What has been done this year to reduce expenditure within the limits of the income, or to increase the income? What are we to do about it? Two courses seem open. One is to "cut" the "blood and thunder" picture, and the other is to let it go. The latter is the more sensible, and the one that is being sacrificed to "entertainment" is the one that is being sacrificed to "entertainment."

Likely enough these are matters that it would be more pleasant not to discuss. But they are matters that ought to be discussed. The paying will have to be done, and the less thoroughly the situation is discussed, the more they will be of it. They are matters, too, which vitally affect the individual taxpayer. The value of his money is being sacrificed to "entertainment" is the one that is being sacrificed to "entertainment."

A LIBERAL PEOPLE.

Reigna Leader.
 To the Victory Loan of 1918 the people of Canada subscribed $22,000,000. The Victory Loan of 1919, the sum of $12,000,000, which is expected, will be increased when all returns are in. In the past few months the eight million people of Canada have contributed to the government with no less a sum than $12,000,000. It is a record, and it is a record that is well known to the people of Canada.

THE WHEAT BOARD.

DEMONSTRATION BY GERMAN FOR GEN. LUDENDORFF

Given Great Ovation — Cheers
Also Offered for the ex-
Kaiser

Berlin, Nov. 26.—The presence of General Ludendorff, former quartermaster-general, in the Imperial park of the Potsdam Garrison church yesterday during a memorial service for Germans who fell in battle, was the occasion for a strong demonstration. Ludendorff spoke of military discipline as an inviolable and moral educational one.

One of the songsters, dressed in a field grey uniform, rose and exclaimed: "When the hour comes we will follow you, general," whereupon the Kaiser, in a high, shrill voice, said: "Deutschland über Alles." In the course of the ceremony the speaker said: "When the time comes we shall be leaders for our fathers and our home, and not disgrace ourselves."

At the close of the sermon the speaker, standing on the tomb of Frederick the Great, summoned the congregation to unite in creating a monarchy which would be supported by the will of the people.

General Ludendorff was given an ovation as he left the building, and cheers also were raised for former Emperor William.

ON CANADA'S FUTURE FISCAL POLICY

Four Cabinet Ministers Meet the Eastern Section of Canadian Manufacturers' Ass'n

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—The method to be adopted by the government for gathering information which would be of assistance in the framing of Canada's future fiscal policy, was discussed by a delegation of the Canadian Manufacturers' association and four cabinet ministers today. The conference was held at the Hotel Chalmers, and at its conclusion, Sir George Foster stated that the results of the conference were simply "the adoption of machinery, in the form of a questionnaire, for gathering information upon which the government would be making its investigation into, and coming to a decision upon, its future fiscal policy of Canada."

Sir George would give no feeling as to what suggestions had been made by the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' association. There were eight other representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' association, including President H. H. C. and General Manager, Frank J. They were received by Sir George Foster, Mr. C. C. Clouston, Minister of Finance, and Sir Henry Drayton, the conference lasted about an hour and a half.
